

Understanding your living and care costs

Fees and charges

Aeralife Botany

We understand when you enter residential aged care for the first time it can be an emotionally difficult period for you and your family. However, it is extremely important that you understand the cost of residential aged care.

There is a lot of information to be absorbed and it can sometimes be overwhelming. Therefore, this booklet is designed to help you familiarise yourself with the various terms used and the fees and charges associated with residential aged care. The amounts you must pay will be set out in your agreement.

What fees might I need to pay?

When moving into an aged care home, there are a few different types of fees you may need to pay and include;

1. Basic Daily Fee – This is a set amount that everyone pays to cover everyday living costs such as meals, cleaning, and laundry.
2. Non-Clinical Care Contribution – may apply to some residents and is calculated by Services Australia based on your income and assets.
3. Hotelling Supplement – is also payable by some residents and is calculated by Services Australia based on your income and assets.
4. Accommodation Costs – This covers your room and can vary based on your financial assessment. Some people pay the full amount, some pay a part, and others have it covered by the government.
5. Higher Everyday Living Fee – is an optional fee to purchase enhanced goods and services that go beyond the standard care and daily living support set by the government under the Aged Care Act.

1. Basic Daily Fee

The Basic Daily Fee (BDF) is payable by all residents. It is currently $66.80 per day and is indexed by the Commonwealth government in alignment with the Age Pension on 20 March and 20 September.

2. Non-Clinical Care Contribution

The Non-Clinical Care Contribution (NCCC) is a daily fee that some residents may need to pay, depending on their income and assets as assessed by Services Australia. The fee can range from $0 to $107.32 per day and stops once you reach a lifetime cap or after four years in permanent care, whichever comes first.

To ensure your NCCC is calculated correctly, please complete the Residential Aged Care Calculation of your cost of care form (SA457), available from Services Australia.

While this form isn't compulsory, if it isn't completed, you may be charged the full cost of your care. If we don't have enough information when you move in, the maximum or agreed daily fee may be applied temporarily until Services Australia finalises your assessment, at which point your fees will be adjusted accordingly.

3. Hotelling Supplement Fee

The Hotelling Supplement Fee (HSF) may apply to some residents, depending on their individual financial circumstances as assessed by Services Australia. This fee can range from $0 to $22.15 per day. When you first move in, the maximum rate may be applied temporarily, and once Services Australia confirms your assessed amount, your fees will be adjusted to reflect the correct rate.

4. Accommodation Costs

Accommodation payment options

We encourage potential residents or their families to contact us to discuss their situation. Residents can choose to make their accommodation payment in one of three ways:

a) Refundable Accommodation Deposit (RAD)

You can pay the room price in full as a lump sum amount. We can deduct agreed fees and charges from the RAD. Retention amounts set by the Government will also be deducted from lump sum payments. Retentions of 2% per annum will be deducted on a monthly basis for 5 years (up to 10% of RAD paid).

b) Daily Accommodation Payment (DAP)

You can choose not to pay the lump sum amount but instead pay a daily interest equivalent which is currently 7.96%. For residents entering under the 1 November 2025 arrangements, the DAP is now indexed to the Consumer Price Index (CPI) on 20 March and 20 September each year.

Worked Example (DAP Indexation)

Entry Date: 1 January 2026
 Agreed Room Price: $500,000
 MPIR at Entry: 7.65%
 Initial DAP: $($500,000 \times 7.65\%) / 365 = \104.79 per day
 New Index (at 20 March 2026): 1.020 (representing a 2% CPI increase)
 Indexed DAP Calculation: $$104.79 \times 1.020 = \106.89 per day

(This example is based on a resident already in care as of 1 January 2026)

For new residents, the interest rate used to calculate your Daily Accommodation Payment (DAP) is the Maximum Permissible Interest Rate (MPIR) current at the time of your entry to the service. Your DAP is indexed on the 20 March and 20 September each year in line with the Consumer Price Index.

c) Combination of RAD and DAP

You can pay any portion of the lump sum RAD amount and pay the remaining balance as a DAP equivalent. Please see the table above for examples of this payment method.

We may allow you to have the RAD deducted from a RAD lump sum if you are making a combination payment. If deducted from the lump sum, this will reduce the RAD refund payable to you or your estate. If DAP or other fees are deducted from the RAD lump sum, the amount you must pay us by DAPs will increase.

Any Accommodation Payment is due at the date of admission. If you choose to pay a RAD after admission, you will be charged interest on any unpaid amount. The Maximum Permissible Interest Rate is currently 7.96% per annum.

The DAP is calculated using the same interest rate.

However you choose to pay for your accommodation, it is advisable to obtain independent financial advice before making a final decision.

Supported or low means residents

If your combined income and assets are below the current limits specified by the Commonwealth, your accommodation payment might be supplemented by the Commonwealth government, either in full or partly. The correct amount is calculated according to a Government formula and is reviewed quarterly.

This amount is called an Accommodation Contribution.

This contribution replaces the DAP and can also be paid as a lump sum (A Refundable Accommodation Contribution) (RAC) or in combination. The RAC is subject to a retention charge of 2% per annum for up to 5 years. The retention amount will be deducted from the RAC automatically each month.

If we do not have sufficient information at admission to determine your supported or low means status, we may charge applicable DAP per day in the interim.

Transitional cohorts

There are different rules that apply to some people who were receiving or approved to receive aged care services before 1 November 2025. This includes:

- People who entered and were in care before 1 November, who transfer to a new care home and don't want their fees to be calculated under the post-1 November rules; and
- People who weren't in a care home, but were approved as a recipient of home care on or before 12 September 2024.

Please let us know if any of these situations apply to you as it may impact on fees and of RAD retentions.

5. Higher Everyday Living Fee

Residents can choose to benefit from a range of enhanced goods and services, which are provided at an affordable rate in addition to the standard services provided by all aged care providers and may do so by subscribing to Higher Everyday Living Services.

Higher Everyday Living Services vary at each Aeralife residence. Please see the daily fee and refer to the brochure and individual agreement for additional details (including how services and fees may change).
